To the FCC board of commissioners:

I strongly urge you to approve the merger of XM and Sirius Satellite Radio. I believe that the merger will bring about more options for us consumers and will provide better support to the customers. I also believe that we will have better variety of content that will be supportive of the diverse US population.

As it currently stands terrestrial radio provides very little diversity and does not cater to the listener especially special interest and multilingual audiences whereas satellite radio does. The real reason the NAB apposes this merger is because they are afraid of healthy competition. The NAB is not lobbying for the best interest of the consumer; they lobby for the best interest of terrestrial radio.

Again, I urge you to support this merger to bring about healthier competition and provide better variety to the public.

Thanks,

Christopher Meyer
